TWO FROM DANNA MCKITRICK ELECTED TO BAR ASSOCIATION OF METROPOLITAN ST. LOUIS

President Elect and Young Lawyer Division Treasurer

St. Louis, Mo., April 13, 2009...Two members of the Clayton-based Danna McKitrick, P.C. law firm were elected April 6 to separate posts by the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Thomas G. Glick, a principal at the firm, was elected President-elect of BAMSL. James M. Heffner, an associate with Danna McKitrick, was chosen as Treasurer of the Young Lawyer Division of the organization. Glick will automatically assume the president's position in May of 2010.

Glick joined Danna McKitrick in 2007 and has been active in BAMSL since 1998. His primary areas of practice include probate, estate administration, estate planning and real estate matters. He also handles elder law and litigation that may arise during probate or estate administration, including guardianships and conservatorships.

"I am very honored to be able to serve the membership of BAMSL as president-elect of the organization. This is the culmination of a long involvement with the bar association and I am eager to guide the organization through the next series of challenges including continued fiscal responsibility and preparation for a renegotiation of our lease or movement to a new headquarters," Glick said.

Heffner practices in corporate and real estate law. He has experience in the purchase, sale, financing and leasing of real estate, as well as drafting and negotiation of construction documents. In corporate matters, he supports business owners in structuring entities, shareholder disputes, mergers and stock purchases/redemptions.

"As Treasurer, I will serve on the Executive Committee of the Young Lawyers Division of the Bar Association. I look forward to supporting the organization's continuing initiatives in educational and charitable issues that will come before that body."
