ST. LOUIS FIRM'S TRANSACTION TEAM GAINS WELL-KNOWN PRINCIPAL

St. Louis, MO – July 13, 2007 – Local law firm Danna McKitrick, P.C. announces Thomas G. Glick as their newest principal. With a strong background in private legal practice, Glick serves clients in all aspects of probate and trust litigation. He is also skilled in handling estate administration, guardianships and conservatorships, estate planning, mental health matters, and real estate transactional needs.

An authority on estate-related issues, Glick speaks and writes on these topics regularly. Recognition for his knowledge in this area includes an invitation to serve on the Missouri Governor's Advisory Council on Aging. He also received the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis President's Outstanding Service Award (2005) and the Volunteer Lawyers Program of Legal Services of Eastern Missouri award (2002) for his pro-bono work.

"Having Tom on our team is a true pleasure because of his calm nature, solid work ethic, and excellent reputation among clients and in the legal community," says Ron Danna, who leads the firm's transactional practice. "We'd welcome a dozen more 'Toms' at our firm."
